Program description

The goal of the GD-SRAE Program is to provide messages to youth that normalize avoiding non-marital sexual activity and other risky behaviors that increase the risk for teen sex.

The objectives of this program are to:

- Implement curricula that include medically accurate information, based on adolescent learning and developmental theories for the age group receiving the education.
- Implement curricula and strategies that are culturally appropriate, recognizing the experiences of youth from diverse communities, backgrounds, and experiences.
- Teach risk avoidance skills through methods that do not normalize teen sexual activity.
- Target services to youth ages 10 to 19.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) data collected in 2021, the proportion of high school students who had ever had sexual intercourse significantly decreased for all youth. You can find additional data related to teen sexual activity and teen pregnancy through the CDC's YRBS Explorer.

Projects funded under this program must meet the requirements detailed in the following sections.

Medically accurate; age, culturally, and linguistically appropriate; trauma informed; and inclusive

GD-SRAE program education must be medically accurate, culturally appropriate, linguistically appropriate, age appropriate, and inclusive of youth from diverse communities, backgrounds, and experiences.

Your project should also be inclusive and trauma informed.

- Medically accurate: Program materials, such as texts, supplements, workbooks, videos, flyers, handouts, posters, and flash cards, must be reviewed in comparison to current medical statements of fact and in accordance with the most up-to-date scientifically supported information.
- Age appropriate: GD-SRAE programs must provide age-appropriate information and activities. The topics, messages, and teaching methods implemented by the project must be consistent with the developmental and social maturity of the program participants and emphasize preventing and reducing teen pregnancies, sexually transmitted infections (STIs), and sexual activity.

- Culturally appropriate: You must provide plans to use culturally sensitive interventions that incorporate the norms, beliefs, and values of the target population into the intervention.
- Linguistically appropriate: Your project must demonstrate responsiveness to the preferred languages, health literacy, and other communication needs of the population served.
- Trauma informed: Your project should incorporate trauma-informed approaches. You should train staff to realize the widespread impact of trauma and recognize the signs and symptoms of trauma in youth. You should build organizational and staff capacity to fully integrate knowledge about trauma into policies, procedures, and practices and resist re-traumatizing youth.
- Inclusive: Your project should be inclusive. This means celebrating and amplifying perspectives, voices, and values of youth who have been historically underserved, marginalized, and adversely affected by persistent inequities. Inclusive programming and environments create equitable access to resources and opportunities for all youth receiving services funded by our programs. We are committed to addressing disparities related to disability status, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and gender identity among youth and young adults.
 - Therefore, you must have a plan to provide safe, inclusive, and culturally responsive spaces and services for all youth, including youth facing disabilities, youth of color, youth who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, intersex, asexual, and/or two spirit (LGBTQIA2S+), and youth from other underserved populations.
 - Also, you must be inclusive of the language access needs of youth and their families.
 - Inclusive programming helps youth feel safe, respected, engaged, and valued for who they are and enables grant recipients to be more sensitive and responsive to their needs. Project materials, practices, and services should not discriminate, alienate, exclude, or stigmatize youth and their families.

GD-SRAE programs must ensure that:

- Any information provided on contraception is medically accurate and complete and ensures that students understand that contraception reduces but does not eliminate physical risk.
- The education provided does not include demonstrations, simulations, or distribution of contraceptive devices.

Youth participation in the GD-SRAE programs must be voluntary.

Evidence-based strategies

In accordance with the GD-SRAE legislation, the interventions your program uses must address the following A-F topics:

- a. “The holistic individual and societal benefits associated with personal responsibility, self-regulation, goal setting, healthy decision-making, and a focus on the future.
- b. The advantage of refraining from non-marital sexual activity in order to improve the future prospects and physical and emotional health of youth.
- c. The increased likelihood of avoiding poverty when youth attain self-sufficiency and emotional maturity before engaging in sexual activity.
- d. The foundational components of healthy relationships and their impact on the formation of healthy marriages and safe and stable families.
- e. How other youth risk behaviors, such as drug and alcohol usage, increase the risk for teen sex.
- f. How to resist and avoid, and receive help regarding, sexual coercion and dating violence, recognizing that even with consent teen sex remains a youth risk behavior.”

GD-SRAE programs must exclusively implement education in sexual risk avoidance, defined by statute as voluntarily refraining from non-marital sexual activity (42 U.S.C. 710(b)(1)).

You are not required to choose from a prescribed list of curricula, but recipients of this grant must, at a minimum, implement evidence-based projects that comply with the following requirements:

- Teach the benefits associated with healthy decision making and a focus on the future.
- Discourage sexual coercion, dating violence, and other youth risk behaviors such as underage drinking or illicit drug use.
- Normalize avoiding non-marital sexual activity.
- Select curricula that have been identified in social science and educational research as having program elements that are key in attaining positive behavior change.
- Select curricula that are medically accurate, age appropriate, culturally appropriate, linguistically appropriate, and LGBTQIA2S+ inclusive.
- Select curricula that address healthy relationships, life skills, and decision making with a positive youth development (PYD) approach.
- Make education in sexual risk avoidance the exclusive purpose of the grant.

- To support successful program implementation, recipients should provide formal training for facilitators/educators in the program model and youth risk and protective factors. This training must be delivered by professionals who can provide follow-up technical assistance to facilitators.
- Provide formal training for facilitators/educators on diversity, equity, and inclusion.
- Link program participants to services with local community partners and other agencies that support the health, safety, and well-being of program participants. The partnering agencies should share a commitment to positive youth development.

We encourage you to review evidence-informed or evidence-based programs to determine whether the interventions can be adapted, subject to copyright restrictions; implemented with fidelity; and adhere to the core curriculum components to meet the requirements of programs designed for this grant. More information on evidence-based programs may be found on the Teen Pregnancy Prevention Evidence Review website.

Positive youth development approach

You must incorporate positive youth development (PYD) into your program.

You can learn more at Youth.gov about the key principles of PYD. For more information on integrating PYD into programs, please see Integrating Positive Youth Development into Programs on Youth.gov.

Meaningful youth engagement and leading in partnership with youth and young adults are important components of the overarching PYD strategy. Meaningful youth engagement views youth as equal partners with adults in the decision-making process rather than mere beneficiaries of programs. Involving youth as partners in making decisions that affect them increases the likelihood that the decisions will be accepted, adopted, and made part of their everyday lives.

PYD also encourages projects to consult with and engage young people and offer them opportunities to have input on program implementation. When engaging and collaborating with youth and young adults who have experienced homelessness, you are encouraged to provide compensation for their expertise and may do so using these funds. You can learn more at Youth.gov about ways to lead in partnership with youth and young adults with lived experience. For additional information on youth partnership, please see Involving Youth in Positive Youth Development on Youth.gov.

You can also use the online assessment tool at Youth.gov to find effective ways to engage youth in your programs.

Equity and populations served

Your program should advance equity by assessing existing inequities in programs and youth needs and collaborating with young people and communities.

GD-SRAE programs must provide services to youth populations between the ages of 10 and 19.

Your program may target services to vulnerable youth populations including, but not limited to, the following:

- Youth living in under-resourced regions and areas with high rates of teen births and STIs.
- Youth populations who are historically and culturally underrepresented and underserved, especially Hispanic, non-Hispanic Black, and American Indian/Alaska Native teens.
- Youth from rural areas and territories.
- Youth in, or aging out of, foster care or adjudication systems.
- Youth who are victims of trafficking.
- Youth who have run away or left home without permission.
- Youth experiencing homelessness.
- Youth who identify as LGBTQIA2S+.

Your program should coordinate, communicate, and engage with community-based organizations whose mission is to reach such populations. Your program should also include staff development and training opportunities to increase knowledge of inequitable barriers related to gender, race, sexuality, disabilities (physical and intellectual), and other characteristics.

Linkages and referrals

Linkages and referrals to health care and other services are important components of supporting youth holistically.

Your program may include linkages to services including, but not limited to, the following:

- Healthcare.
- Educational services (such as tuition for formal K-12 or General Education Diploma classes).
- Career development.
- Counseling services (such as substance abuse treatment, tobacco cessation, mental health counseling, and intimate partner violence counseling).

- Public benefits, including Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program and other relevant benefit programs.

You should provide referrals for necessary services but must not pay for the services themselves with FYSB funding. We encourage you to develop partnerships to help facilitate these referrals and document such referrals. When feasible, you should track the initiation of service delivery.

Performance measurement

Performance measures are a set of indicators that reflect program performance. Twice a year, all recipients and subrecipients, including their implementation sites, will be required to collect and submit information on program implementation and program outcomes through a common set of performance measures. This requirement applies to any community partners who agree to host a site or recruit program participants (such as school districts or nonprofits).

The purpose of the performance measures is:

- To monitor and provide feedback about whether recipients are implementing GD-SRAE programs as intended.
- To demonstrate progress toward expected objectives.
- To create a foundation for program improvement efforts, through federal, recipients', and program providers' examination of these data.

GD-SRAE performance measures provide information based upon these three categories of data collection:

- Structure, cost, and support for program implementation.
- Attendance, reach, and dosage.
- Participants' entry and exit surveys (which capture characteristics, behaviors, program experiences, and perceptions of effects).

You must indicate your agreement to collect the GD-SRAE performance measures and submit the data to ACF/FYSB.

Recipients will be expected to check local and state laws, policies, and procedures to ensure the feasible collection of performance measures data and obtain any necessary permissions (for example, formal agreements with partners, Institutional Review Board approval, copies of school district approvals) to collect these data.

Recipients are responsible for ensuring all subrecipients and implementation sites collect and submit the GD-SRAE performance measures data. FYSB will provide the performance measures surveys and training on how to conduct performance measures data collection and submission.

Recipients may develop additional questions of program performance, as needed, including adding items at the end of the FYSB's Office of Management and Budget (OMB)-approved entry or exit surveys (for example, youth program satisfaction feedback). However, all FYSB OMB-approved items must be administered first, in the order presented in the approved survey, before any additional items are added. Added questions should not be submitted to ACF/FYSB.

For more information about the GD-SRAE performance measures, including definitions, survey instruments, and data collection tools, please see the SRAE Performance Analysis Study site.

Note: Consistent with the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) of 1995, (44 U.S.C. 3501-3521), under this NOFO, ACF will not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information covered by such Act, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. ACF has obtained OMB approval (OMB Control Number 0970-0536; expiration date January 31, 2025) under PRA to request and collect performance measures.

Local evaluation

You have the option to conduct a recipient-specific program evaluation, referred to as a “local evaluation,” of your project. If you intend to conduct a local evaluation, you must provide a detailed description of your evaluation plan in the approach section of your application.

A local evaluation provides an opportunity for you to learn whether your programs are achieving desired outcomes and identify areas for program improvement. A local evaluation also gives you a chance to contribute to the evidence base for SRAE programming.

If you opt to conduct a local evaluation, you may only propose one local evaluation. Evaluations must answer one or more recipient-specific research questions related to your program.

In accordance with the legislation, any GD-SRAE evaluation that you opt to conduct must be:

- Rigorous.
- Evidence-based.
- Designed and conducted by independent researchers who have experience in conducting and publishing research in peer-reviewed journals or other outlets.

If you opt to conduct a local evaluation, you are permitted to conduct any of the following three types of methodologies:

- Impact evaluations: Efficacy/effectiveness studies that have a control/comparison group that receives either no services or distinct services from the intervention group. These studies should also evaluate behavioral outcomes beyond the period directly following the end of programming (for example, six-month follow-up), when appropriate.
- Comprehensive needs assessments: Scientific/systematic investigations that identify needs and challenges around a given issue, determine root causes, identify current barriers to addressing the need, and set priorities for future actions.
- Descriptive studies: Studies that both document and link program implementation and participant outcomes. Descriptive evaluations generate knowledge or understanding about the programs and populations served. Additionally, these studies do not have a comparison/control group.

Well-conducted evaluations require time for planning, implementation, analysis, reporting, and dissemination activities. We advise you to carefully consider, based on the study selected, whether you have allotted sufficient resources in the program budget and adequate time for conducting your evaluation. We also recommend that you review the current SRAE evaluation resources to inform your evaluation plan.

Local evaluations must be designed and conducted by independent researchers, called “local evaluators,” who have experience in conducting evaluations of youth-focused programs in the community. The evaluator should match the type of methodology for the proposed local evaluation. Examples of independent evaluators may be universities, research organizations, evaluation consultants, or other institutions with experience in conducting high-quality evaluations of community programs.

If you plan to conduct a local evaluation, your application must include the following:

- Research questions.
- Research design.
- Plan for recruitment of participants.
- Planned sample size, including the size of each condition, if applicable, as well as the timing of sample enrollment (that is, when sample enrollment will begin and end, and the monthly and annual sample enrollment targets).
- Measures (including any measures in addition to the required performance measures).
- Data collection methods.
- Data analysis methods.
- Program evaluation plan (that is, a work plan for executing the proposed research design).

If multiple waves of data collection will be conducted, plans must describe the timing of those waves and how respondents will be tracked over time for later data collection.

We will provide technical assistance and/or training to prime recipients conducting local evaluations, and to their local evaluators, on evaluation planning, implementation, analysis, reporting, and dissemination. GD-SRAE programs that choose to conduct a local evaluation are required to set aside a maximum of 20% of their annual funding allocation for evaluation activities.

National evaluation

We will conduct a national, descriptive study with grant recipients. All applicants must indicate their agreement to participate in the national evaluation. We may invite a subset of program projects to participate in a rigorous, federal evaluation. Federal evaluations are subject to the PRA, and FYSB will receive all approvals prior to launching any evaluations.

Funding policies and limitations

We do not allow the following costs under this NOFO:

- Pre-award costs
- Construction
- Purchase of real property
- Major renovation

In addition:

- No more than 20% of funds can be used for local evaluation.
- GD-SRAE allows funded agencies and organizations to assist the youth in their programs in finding services and making referrals, but healthcare and other services must not be paid for with GD-SRAE funds.
- Funds under this NOFO cannot be used for the following purposes:
 - To supplant or replace current public or private funding.
 - To supplant ongoing or usual activities of any organization involved in the project.

See 45 CFR 75.420 -75.475 for information on costs that are always unallowable or have restrictions.

Indirect costs

Indirect costs are those for a common or joint purpose across more than one project and that cannot be easily separated by project. Learn more at 45 CFR 75.414, Indirect Costs.

To charge indirect costs you can select one of two methods:

Method 1 — Approved rate. You currently have an indirect cost rate approved by your cognizant federal agency.

Method 2 — De minimis rate. Per 45 CFR 75.414\(f\), if you have never received a negotiated indirect cost rate, you may elect to charge a de minimis rate. If you are awaiting approval of an indirect cost proposal, you may also use the de minimis rate. If you choose this method, costs included in the indirect cost pool must not be charged as direct costs.

This rate is 10% of modified total direct costs (MTDC). See 45 CFR 75.2 for the definition of MTDC. You can use this rate indefinitely.

Subawards

The prime recipient must maintain a substantive role in the project. We define a substantive role as conducting funded activities and providing services that are necessary and integral to completing the project. Monitoring your subrecipient's activities alone is not a substantive role. See 45 CFR 75.352 for information on subrecipient monitoring.

We do not fund awards where the role of the applicant is primarily to serve as a conduit for passing funds to other organizations unless that arrangement is authorized by statute.

Subrecipients must meet the eligibility requirements of this NOFO. Additionally, all subrecipients must obtain a UEI number assigned by the SAM, if they do not already have one. Prime recipients are required to check the SAM to verify that the subrecipients are not debarred, suspended, or ineligible.

Statutory authority

The GD-SRAE Program is funded generally under the authority of section 510 of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 710, 117-328).

Medically accurate; age, culturally, and linguistically appropriate; trauma informed; and inclusive

- Describe how interventions will address the trauma needs of youth and explain how you will ensure that all curricula, services, and materials are medically accurate; age, culturally, and linguistically appropriate; trauma informed; and inclusive of youth from diverse communities, backgrounds, and experiences.
- Describe how you will certify that all SRAE materials presented as factual will be grounded in scientific research. Explain how information shared is medically accurate and aligns with the needs and desired outcomes for the intended audience.

Evidence-based and evidence-informed interventions and strategies

- Provide a detailed description of the curriculum modules and types of interventions and activities that will be conducted and how they align with the GD-SRAE program requirements.
- Provide a rationale for choosing the selected curriculum, citing evidence that demonstrates how the curriculum and overall proposal apply key program elements to positively influence youth behavior change, namely delaying initiation of sexual activity.
- Describe the process and tools that you will use to monitor program fidelity, and, if adaptations are planned, provide a clear rationale for the proposed adaptations.

Positive youth development approach

- Describe how the program incorporates a PYD approach, including targeting risk and protective factors in young people's lives that are known to influence sexual activity.
- Demonstrate ways in which you plan to incorporate meaningful youth engagement as part of your larger PYD approach.

Equity and populations served

- Describe how you will coordinate, communicate, and engage with community-based organizations whose missions include reaching underrepresented and underserved populations.
- Describe how the project will recruit and retain historically underrepresented and underserved populations within the targeted community.
- Describe staff development and training opportunities to increase knowledge of inequitable barriers related to gender, race, sexuality, disabilities (physical and intellectual), and other characteristics.
- Provide a clear justification of the estimated number of the overall project participants in each year of the project. Include a description of the types of participants by age groups or grades, race, ethnicity, and other descriptive factors.
- Provide a detailed and realistic description of the recruitment and retention plan for youth ages 10 to 19. The approach described must be specific for the population of youth served, service delivery location, and implementation setting.

Local evaluation (optional)

State whether you plan to conduct a local evaluation or not.

If you propose to conduct a local evaluation, you must provide a plan to implement the evaluation in the 36-month project period. Explain how the evaluation will do the following:

- Answer important questions of interest to you, to the community, and to the larger field of SRAE.
- Include an appropriate evaluation design.
- Address sexual risk avoidance outcomes, specifically sexual activity or other sexual behaviors, including preventing pregnancy among youth.
- Address key program outcomes.
- Meet expectations of rigor that ACF provides through a system of technical assistance.

National evaluation

You must also clearly state that your organization and any subrecipients will participate in the national evaluations if selected.

Logic model

You must submit a logic model for designing, managing, and evaluating the project. A logic model is a diagram that:

- Presents how inputs drive activities to produce outputs, outcomes, and the ultimate goals of the proposed project.
- Explains the links among project elements.
- Targets the identified objectives and goals of the project.

While there are many versions of logic models, for the purposes of this funding opportunity, the logic model may include the connections between:

- Inputs such as additional resources, organizational profile, collaborative partners, key staff, or budget.
- Target population, such as the individuals to be served or identified needs.
- Activities, mechanisms, and processes such as evidenced-based practices, best practices, approach, key intervention and evaluation components, continuous quality improvement efforts.

- Outputs, which include the immediate and direct results of program activities.
- Outcomes, which include the expected short- and long-term results the project you expect to achieve. These are typically described as changes in people or systems.
- Project goals such as overarching objectives and reasons for proposing the project.

Your logic model should provide up to six outcomes that clearly state expected results or benefits of the intervention proposed and link with them with the goals. Proposed outcomes should be specific, measurable, achievable, realistic, time-framed, inclusive, and equitable.

Project sustainability plan

You must propose a plan for project sustainability after the period of federal funding ends. We expect you to sustain key elements of your project. These elements can include strategies or services and interventions that have been effective in improving practices and outcomes.

Provide an approach to project sustainability that is effective and feasible.

Describe:

- The key people and organizations whose support you will require.
- The types of alternative support you will require to maintain the project.
- If the proposed project involves key project partners, how you will maintain their cooperation or collaboration after the federal funding ends.

Line-item budget and budget narrative

The line-item budget and budget justification supports the information you provide in the Budget Information Standard Form SF-424-A. See other required forms.

It justifies the costs you ask for and includes added detail, including detailed calculations for the “object class categories” in the Budget Information Standard Form. You will provide this information for the initial budget period only (typically the first 12 months of the project). See funding periods.

As you develop your budget, consider:

- If the costs are necessary, reasonable, allocable, and consistent with your project’s purpose and activities.
- How you calculate your costs in ways that are clear and repeatable.
- The restrictions on spending funds. See funding policies and limitations.

You must also:

- Include costs in the budget for two key staff members to attend the three-day Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention Annual Grantee Conference.
- Include costs for two key staff members to attend a minimum of one of two topical training sessions offered in each year of the 36-month project period.
- Propose a budget with no more than 20% of project costs devoted to evaluation, if you are proposing a local evaluation.

We encourage you also to review the Standard Form instructions.

To create your line-item budget and justification, see detailed instructions on our website.

In general, you must:

- Indicate the method you will use for your indirect cost rate. See indirect costs for further information.
- Include estimation methods, quantities, unit costs, and other similar quantitative detail sufficient for the calculation to be duplicated.
- For any cost sharing, include a detailed listing of any funding sources identified in Block 18 of the SF-424 Application for Federal Assistance.

In your application, you may identify salary or other proprietary information or personally identifiable information. We will remove this information from applications before they go to reviewers.

If you have an exemption for paper submission, you can protect salary information and any proprietary information by placing that information only in the original application. You can remove the information from the copies, keeping summary information.

Attachments

You will upload attachments in Grants.gov using the Other Attachments Form. These attachments are included in the overall application page limit, unless it says otherwise below.

Indirect cost agreement

If you include indirect costs in your budget using an approved rate, include a copy of your current agreement approved by your cognizant agency for indirect costs. If you use the de minimis rate, you do not need to submit this attachment.

See indirect costs for more information.

Legal proof of nonprofit status

If your organization is a nonprofit, you need to attach proof. We will accept any of the following:

- A reference to your listing in the IRS's most recent list of tax-exempt organizations.

Legal proof of small businesses

In addition to the proof that your organization is for-profit required above, small businesses must submit a certification signed by the Chief Executive Officer or designee that states that the entity qualifies as a small business under 13 CFR §§ 121.101-121.201.

Organizational capacity supporting information

You must attach the following information to support the information in your organizational capacity section:

Third-party agreements

You must submit agreements with all third parties involved in the project. Third parties include subrecipients, contractors, and other cooperating entities. Third-party agreements include letters of commitment, memoranda of understanding (MOU), and memoranda of agreement. We do not consider general letters of support to be third-party agreements.

Any such agreement must:

- Describe the roles and responsibilities for project activities.
- Describe the support and resources that the third party is committing to the proposed project.
- Be signed by the person in the third-party organization with the authority to make such commitments.
- Detail work schedules and estimated compensation with an understanding that the parties will negotiate a final agreement after award.

Application review

Initial review

We review each application to make sure it meets basic requirements. We won't consider an application that:

- Requests funding above the award ceiling
- Is submitted after the deadline
- Is from an individual, including a sole proprietorship, or a foreign entity
- Is received in paper format that didn't have a previously approved exemption from ACF

We will let you know if your application is disqualified within 30 days of the application deadline. You won't receive any notice from ACF if your application fails Grants.gov validation checks.

If you submit more than two files in addition to your forms, we will remove the extra files. We will let you know if this happens.

We will also remove blurred or illegible pages and any file formats that are not supported.

We will not review any pages that exceed the page limit.

If your application fails to adhere to ACF's NOFO formatting, font, and page limitation requirements, we will adjust your application by removing page(s) from the application. We will remove the pages before the merit review and will not send them to reviewers.

If we do so, we will send you a letter after we make awards to notify you that we amended your application.

Merit review

A panel reviews all applications that pass the initial review. The members use the criteria in this section.

Additionally, our reviewers typically are not federal employees. See proprietary and personally identifiable information.

Risk review

Before making an award, we review the risk that you will not prudently manage federal funds. We need to make sure you've handled any past federal awards well and demonstrated sound business practices. We use SAM.gov Responsibility - Qualification to check this history for all awards likely to be over $250,000.

If we find a significant risk, we may choose not to fund your application or to place specific conditions on the award.

For more details, see 45 CFR 75.205.

Selection process

When making funding decisions, we consider:

- Merit review results, which are key in making decisions but are not the only factor.
- Organizations serving emerging, unserved, or under-served populations.
- The larger portfolio of agency-funded projects by considering geographic distribution.
- The past performance of the applicant.

We may:

- Fund applications in whole or in part.
- Fund applications at a lower amount than requested.
- Decide not to allow a prime recipient to subaward if they may not be able to monitor and manage subrecipients properly.
- Decide not to fund a project with high startup costs or unreasonably high operating costs.
- Choose not to fund applicants with management or financial problems.
- Designate your application as “approved but unfunded” if it was successful but there was not sufficient funding to make an award. You may receive funding if additional funds become available within the fiscal year.
- Choose to fund no applications under this NOFO.

We will not fund:

- An incomplete application.
- A disqualified application.

Award notices

How we make awards

If you are successful, we will email or transmit through our grant systems a Notice of Award (NoA) to your authorized official. We will email you if your application is disqualified or unsuccessful.

The NoA is the only official award document. The NoA tells you about the amount of the award, important dates, and the terms and conditions you need to follow. Until you receive the NoA, you have not received an award. Project costs that you incur before you receive a NoA are at your risk.

If you want to know more about NoA contents, go to Notice of Award at ACF's website.

Paperwork Reduction Act disclaimer

As required by the Paperwork Reduction Act, 44 U.S.C. 3501-3521, the public reporting burden for the Project Description (Project Narrative, Line-Item Budget, and Justification) is estimated to average 60 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, gathering, and maintaining the data needed, and reviewing the collection information. The Project Description information collection is approved under OMB control number 0970-0139, which expires March 31, 2026. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Appendix

Glossary of terms

The terms “age-appropriate,” “rigorous,” “medically accurate,” and “youth” are defined according to the legislation at 42 U.S.C. 710(e). All other terms are defined by applicable research for the purposes of this NOFO.

Activities – All the actions needed to prepare for and carry out the program. This includes program and financial management, intervention activities, training activities, and staff debriefings.

Adaptation – The modification of an evidence-based intervention that has been developed for a single demographic, ethnic, linguistic, and/or cultural group for use with other groups.

Age-appropriate – Suitable (in terms of topics, messages, and teaching methods) to the developmental and social maturity of the particular age or age group of children or adolescents, based on developing cognitive, emotional, and behavioral capacity typical for the age or age group.

Continuous quality improvement – A continuous and ongoing effort to achieve measurable improvements in the efficiency, effectiveness, performance, accountability, outcomes, and other indicators of quality in services or processes.

Comprehensive needs assessment – Scientific/systematic investigations that identify needs and challenges in an area, determine root causes, identify current barriers to addressing the need, and set priorities for future actions.

Core components – Program characteristics that must be kept intact when an intervention is being replicated or adapted for it to produce program outcomes similar to those demonstrated in the original evaluation research that provided evidence for effectiveness.

Dating violence – The type of intimate partner violence that occurs between two young people who are, or who were, once in an intimate relationship.

Effectiveness – The impact of a program under conditions that are likely to occur in a real-world implementation.

Equity – The consistent and systematic treatment of all individuals in a fair, just, and impartial manner, including individuals who belong to communities that often have been denied such treatment, such as Black, Latino, Indigenous and Native American, Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander persons and other persons of color; members of religious minorities; women and girls; LGBTQIA2S+ persons; persons with disabilities; persons who live in rural areas; persons who live in United States Territories; persons otherwise adversely affected by persistent poverty or inequality; and individuals who belong to multiple such communities.

Evidence-based – Interventions, strategies, approaches, and/or program models that have been evaluated using rigorous evaluation design such as randomized controlled or high-quality, quasi-experimental trials, and that have demonstrated positive impacts for youth, families, and communities.

Evidence-informed – Interventions, strategies, approaches, and/or program models that bring together the best available research, professional expertise, and input from youth and families to identify and deliver services that have promise to achieve positive outcomes for youth, families, and communities.

Fidelity – The degree to which an intervention is delivered as designed. Faithfulness with which a curriculum or program is implemented; that is, how well the program is implemented without compromising the core content that is essential for program effectiveness.

Goal setting – The process of deciding what to accomplish and devising a plan to achieve the desired results.

Healthy relationships – Peer, romantic, marriage, family, and other interactions that are based on trust, honesty, and respect and allow adolescents to feel supported, connected, and independent. In healthy relationships, key elements are communication, appropriate boundaries, empathy, effective conflict resolution, and resistance of peer pressure.

Impact evaluation – Efficacy/effectiveness study; has a control/comparison group that receives no services or distinct services from the intervention group.

Implementation – The process of introducing and using interventions in real-world service settings, including how interventions or programs are adopted, sustained, and taken to scale.

Key program elements – Information and concepts central to implementation of the sexual risk avoidance education program.

Meaningful youth engagement - Meaningful youth engagement views youth as equal partners with adults in the decision-making process rather than mere beneficiaries of programs. Involving youth as partners in making decisions that affect them increases the likelihood that the decisions will be accepted, adopted, and become part of their everyday lives.

Medically accurate and complete – Verified or supported by the weight of research conducted in compliance with accepted scientific methods and (A) published in peer reviewed journals, where applicable; or (B) comprising information that leading professional organizations and agencies with relevant expertise in the field recognize as accurate, objective, and complete.

Memorandum of understanding (MOU) - A written statement from a stakeholder organization, or individual describing a commitment, including possibly a financial role, in supporting the implementation of a program.

Normalizing teen sexual activity - Creating the impression that teen sexual activity outside of marriage is appropriate and/or healthy behavior.

Objectives - The specific and measurable actions that support the expected result of the program.

Organizational capacity - The resources (for example, staff, skills, facilities, finances, technology, partnerships, and capabilities) an organization has to implement a program.

Outcomes - The intended effects of the implemented program or program elements, such as increase in knowledge, development of skills, and behavior changes.

Performance measures - Indicators that are designed for the ongoing monitoring and reporting of program accomplishments, particularly progress toward pre-established goals.

Promising practices - Models, interventions, strategies, and ideas that have been implemented and evaluated to varying degrees in programs and communities and demonstrate positive or promising outcomes.

Rigorous - With respect to research or evaluation, using established scientific methods for measuring the impact of an intervention or program model in changing behavior (specifically sexual activity or other sexual risk behaviors), or reducing pregnancy among youth; or other evidence-based methodologies established by the Secretary.

Self-regulation - The act of managing thoughts and feelings to enable goal-directed actions, including a variety of actions necessary for success in school, relationships, and the workplace.

Sexual risk avoidance - Voluntarily refraining from non-marital sexual activity.

Sexually transmitted infections (STIs) or sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) - STIs/STDs are harmful diseases that are passed from one person to another through sexual contact. These include chlamydia, gonorrhea, genital herpes, human papillomavirus, syphilis, and human immunodeficiency virus. Many of these STIs/STDs do not show symptoms for a long time. Even without symptoms, they can still be harmful and passed on during sex. Avoiding sexual activity is the most reliable way to prevent and protect against STIs/STDs. See the CDC's STI informational site.

Trauma-informed - The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) defines a trauma-informed approach as one that is based on the knowledge and understanding of trauma and its far-reaching implications. A trauma-informed approach is grounded in four key assumptions known as the “four Rs” (SAMHSA, 2014), which specify that a program, organization, or system is trauma-informed:

- Realizes the widespread impact of trauma and understands potential paths for recovery.
- Recognizes the signs and symptoms of trauma in clients, families, staff, and others involved with the program, organization or system.
- Responds by fully integrating knowledge about trauma into policies, procedures, and practices.
- Resists re-traumatization.

Youth – One or more individuals who have attained age 10 but not age 20.

Youth-friendly – Youth-friendly services are those that attract young people, respond to their needs, and retain young people for continuing care. Youth-friendly services are based on a comprehensive understanding of what young people want and need (rather than being based only on what providers believe youth need).
