The Four Phases

Analyze the Data

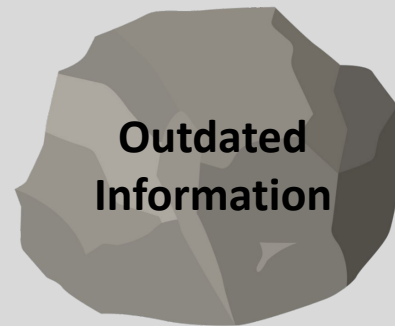

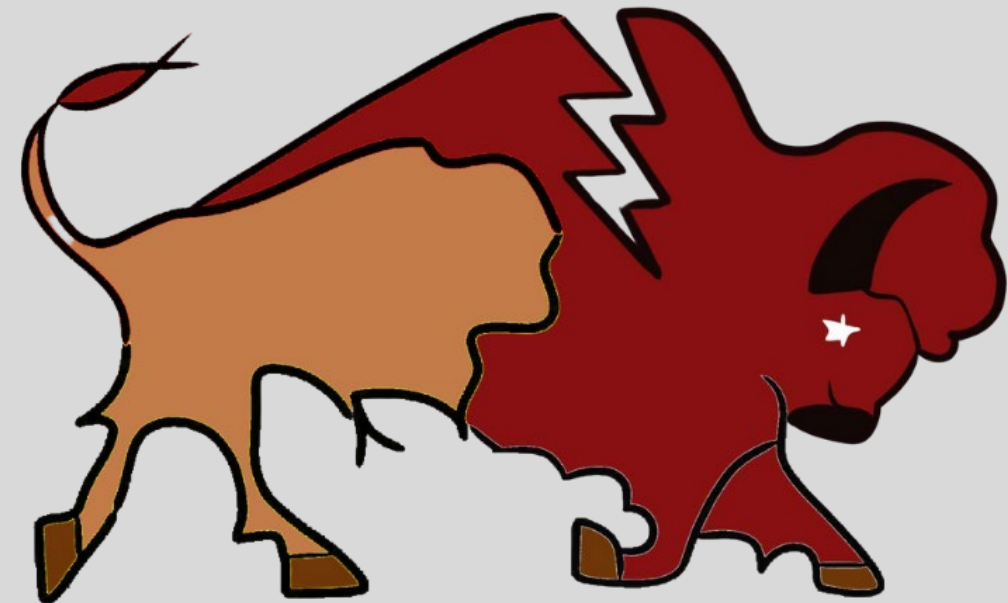

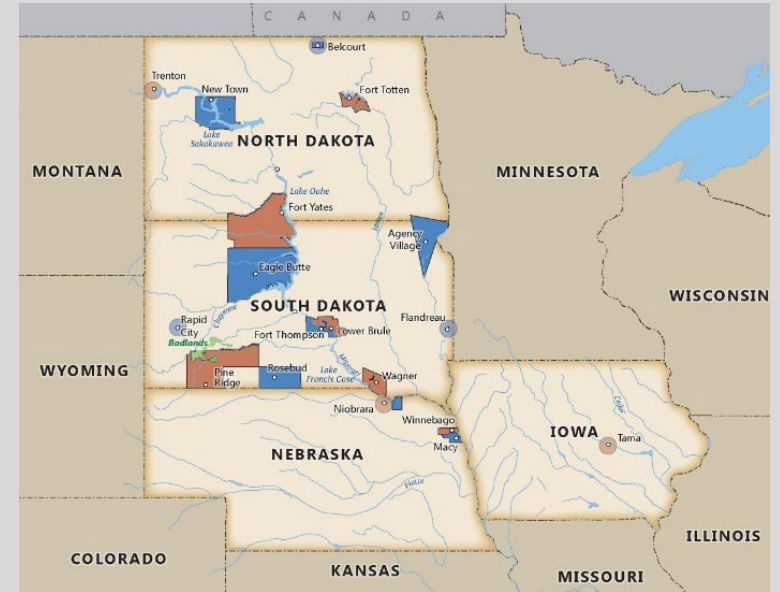

Implement the Program

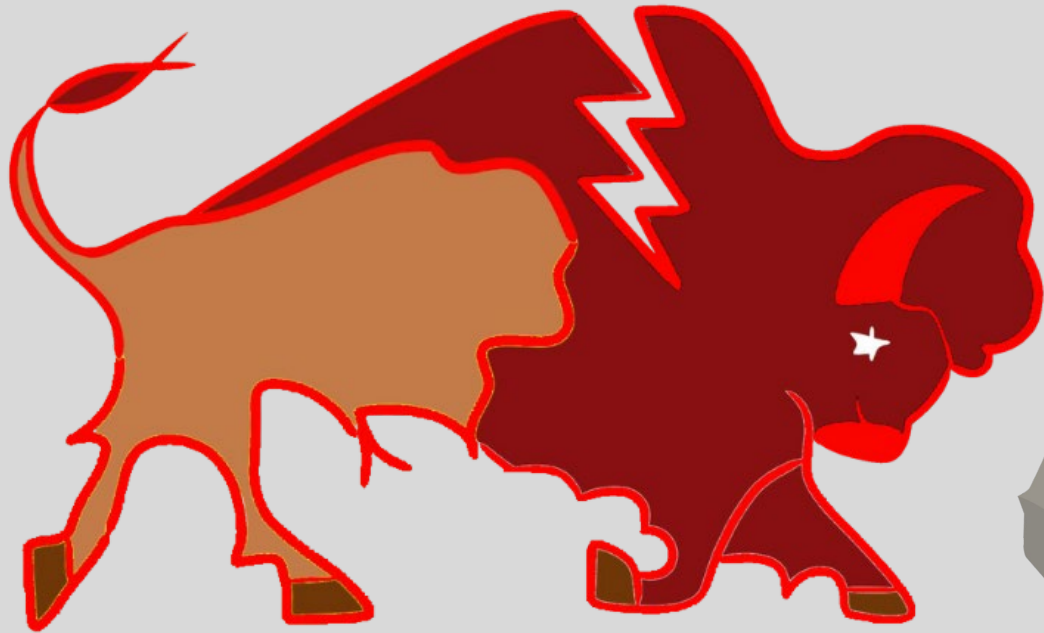

Initiate Conversations

- Beginning of the “trusting” relationship
- Knowledge and conversations lead to a better understanding of the program
- Be persistent and consistent

Build Relationships

- Knowing where to begin
- Scheduling regular meetings and meet in person when possible
- Be a part of the community
- Begin building relationships with evaluators
- Check to see what IRBs and RRBs may be in place

Location

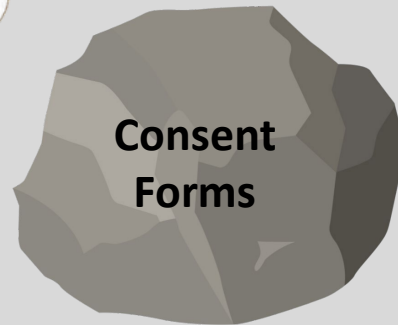

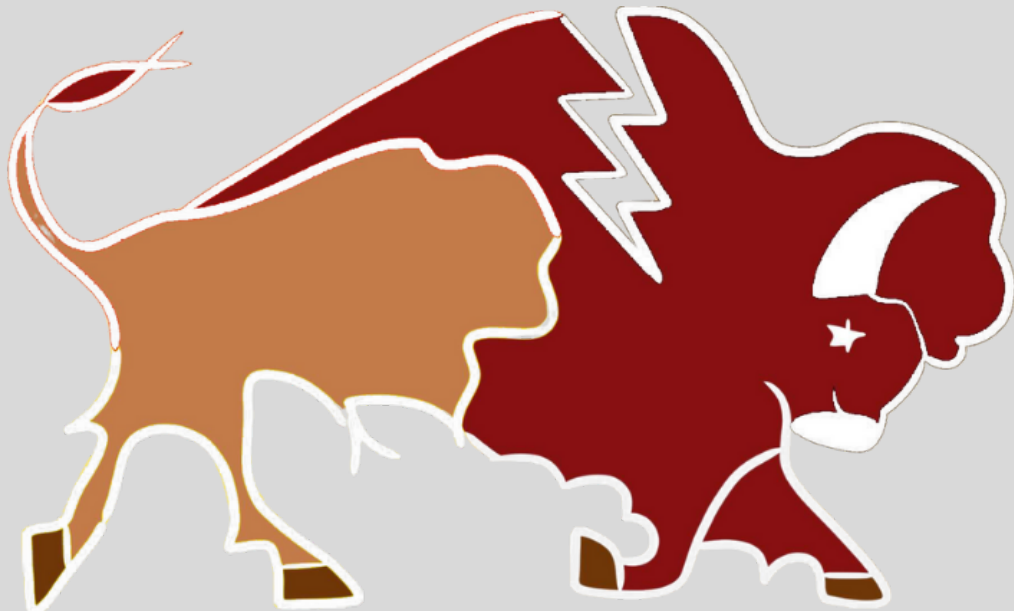

Implement the Program

- Largest and most time-consuming phase
- Includes scheduling, consent forms, rosters, attendance sheets, trainings, etc...
- Consistency is important from implementors and evaluators

Analyze the Data

- Shows communities how the program is impacting students and tell a story
- Ensure that facilitators understand the data is for their community
- Make data community friendly
