

Overcoming Complex Challenges Facing Adolescent Sexual & Reproductive Health Programmatic Efforts

Caitlin B. Holden, PhD, CHES, Kelly Wilson, PhD, MCHES, Whitney Garney, PhD, Christi Esquivel, PhD, CHES, Sydney Hineline, MPH, Andrea Meisman, MA, LPC, and Brittany Rosen, PhD, MEd, CHES

2024WARD: Building Brighter Futures for Today's Youth Leaders
June 25 – 27, 2024

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children, Youth and Families (ACYF), Family and Youth Services Bureau (FYSB) Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention Program Grantee Conference

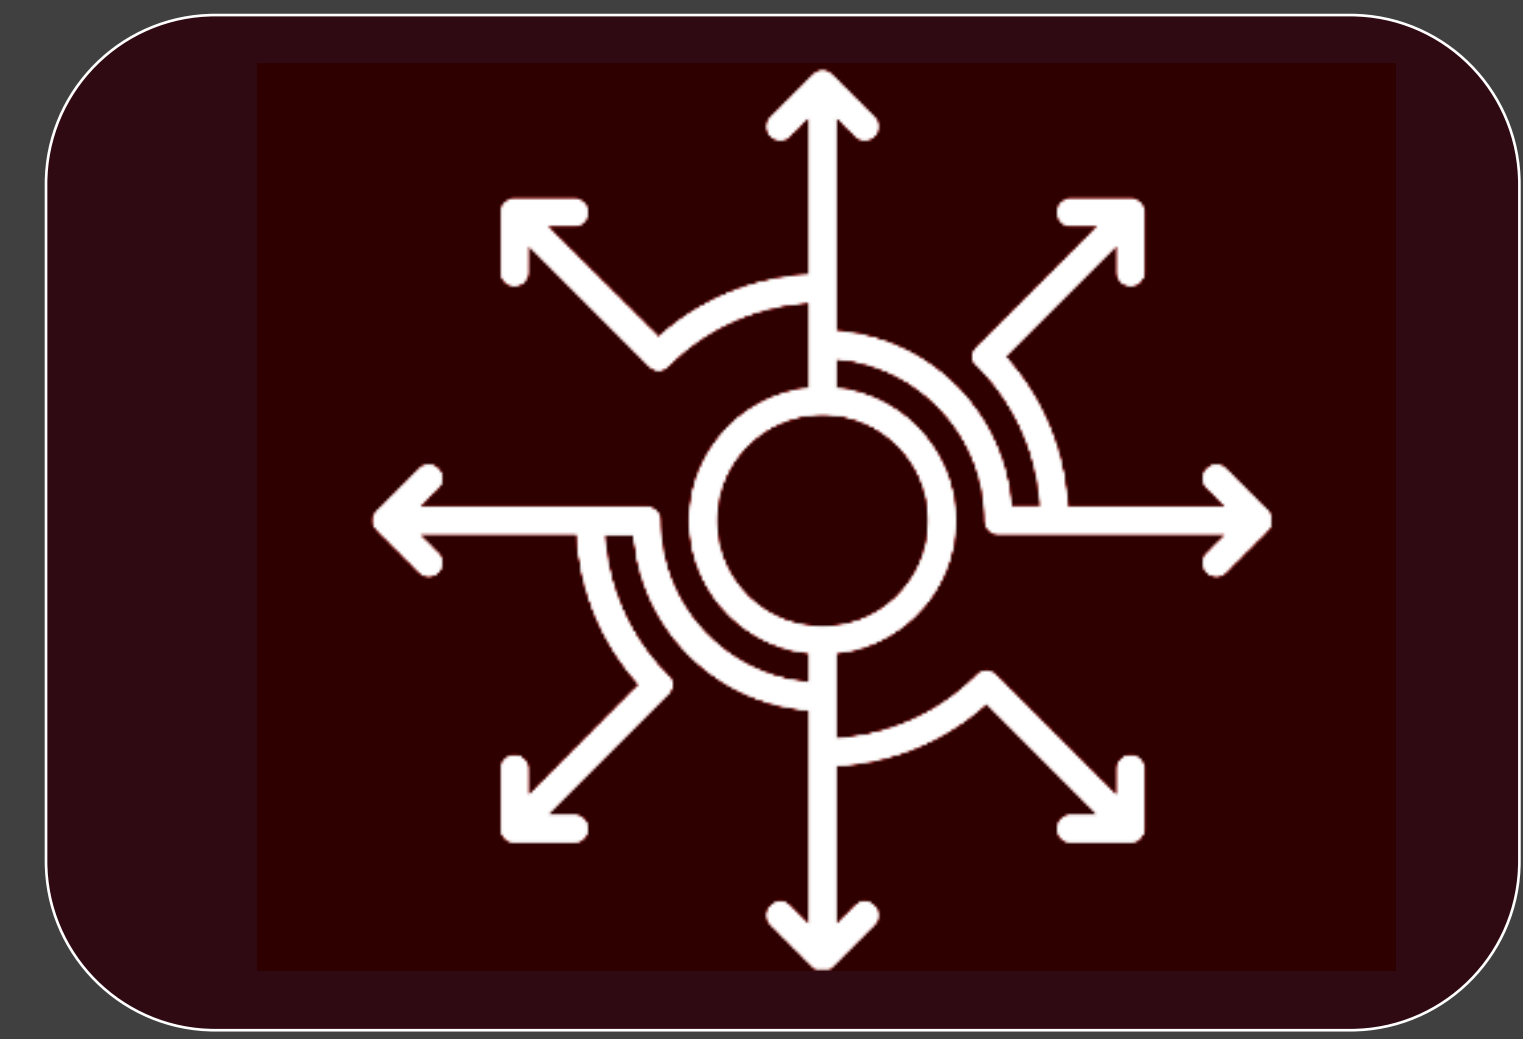

Purpose

- To discuss the unique strategies used to overcome these challenges to ensure youth have access to the vital content needed to make informed sexual and reproductive health choices.

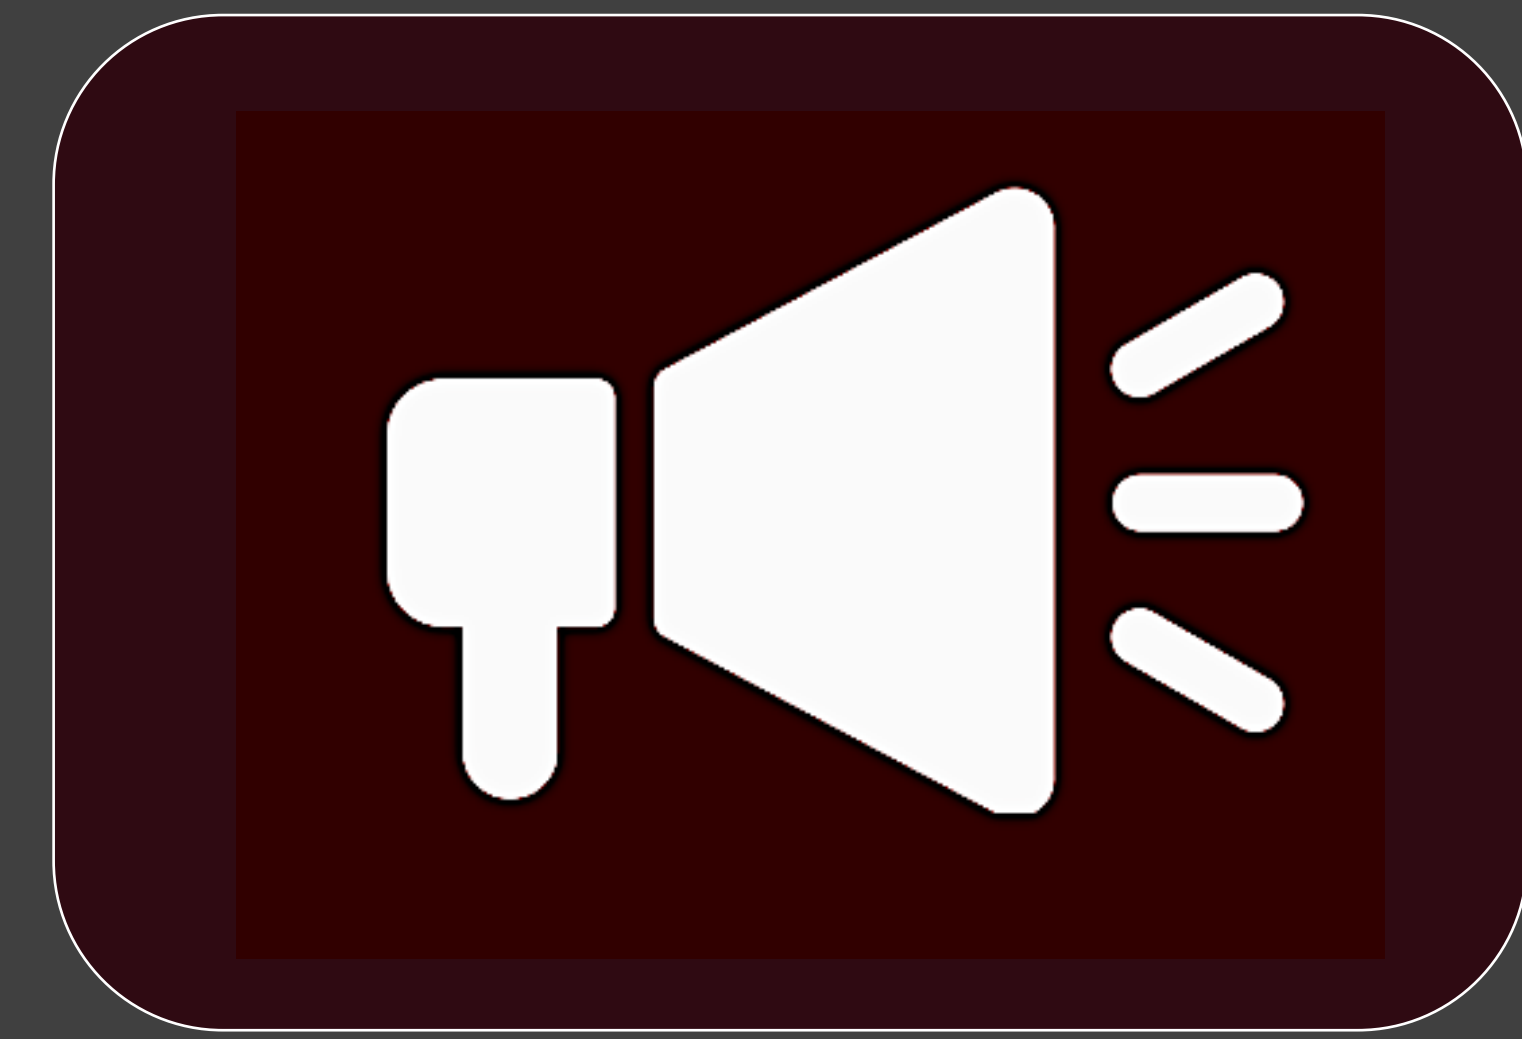

Significance

- There is a unique complexity surrounding sexual and reproductive health in the United States. Specifically, the barriers in policy and legislation regarding youth sexual and reproductive programmatic efforts in schools and community-based settings.
- By advocating for youth access to programmatic efforts we provide the chance for them to make their own informed health decisions.

Strategies used for recruiting, implementing, and sustaining a sexual and reproductive health game-based learning intervention to overcome barriers.

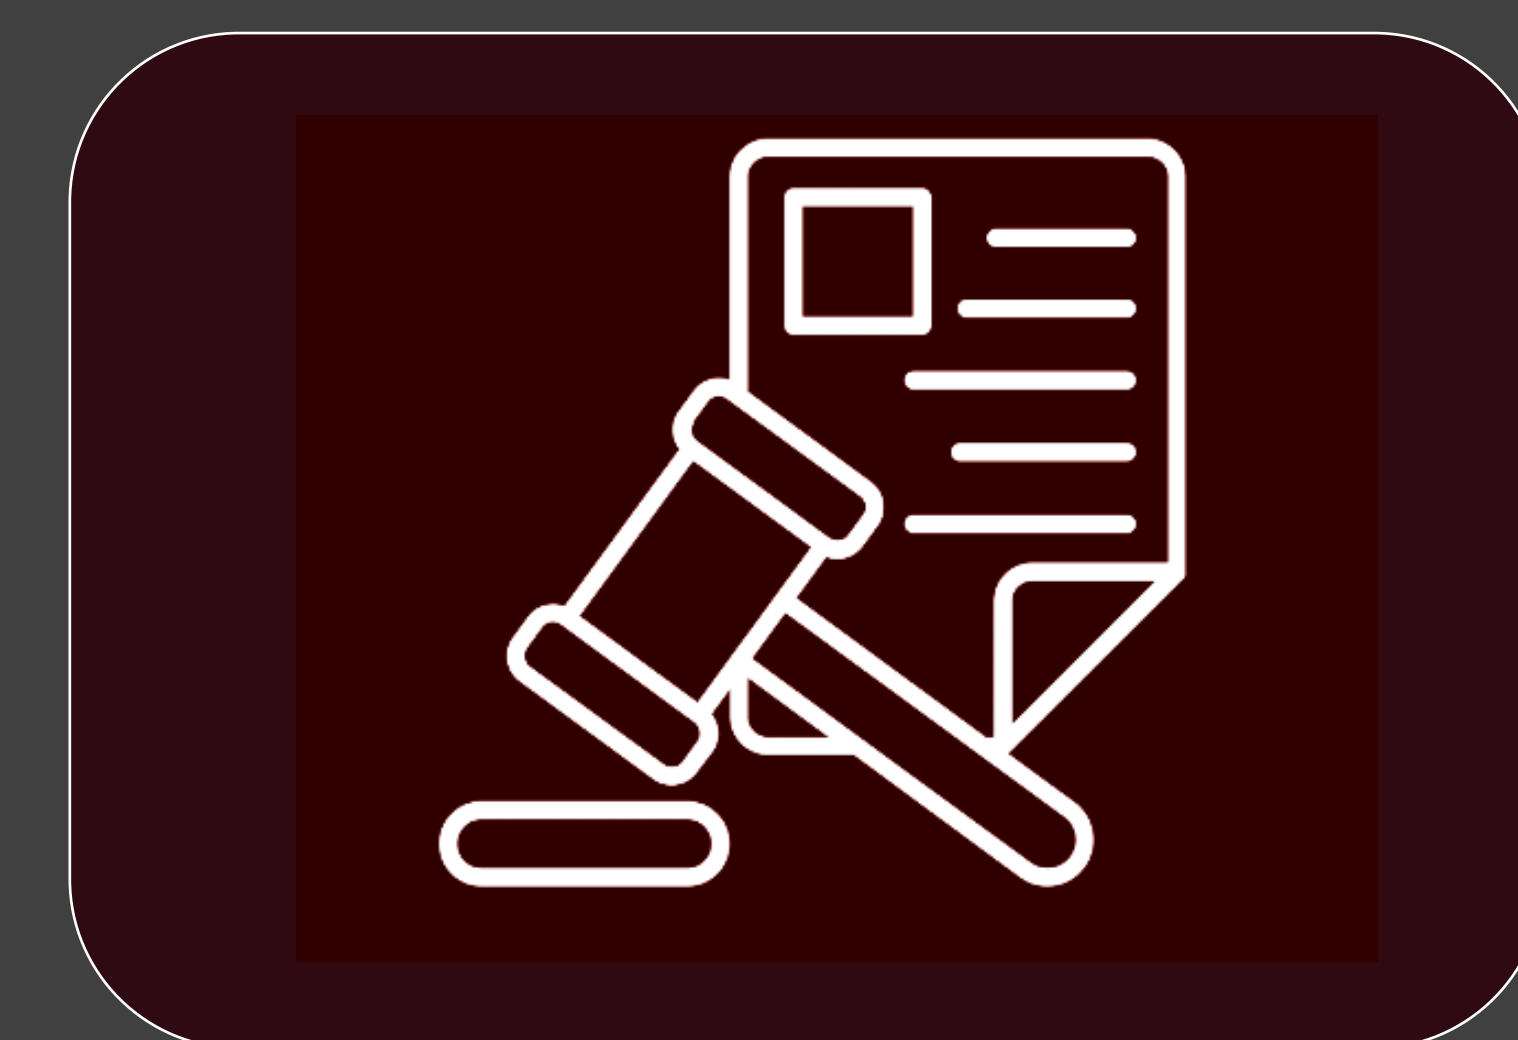

Expanding outside of geographic regions/states.

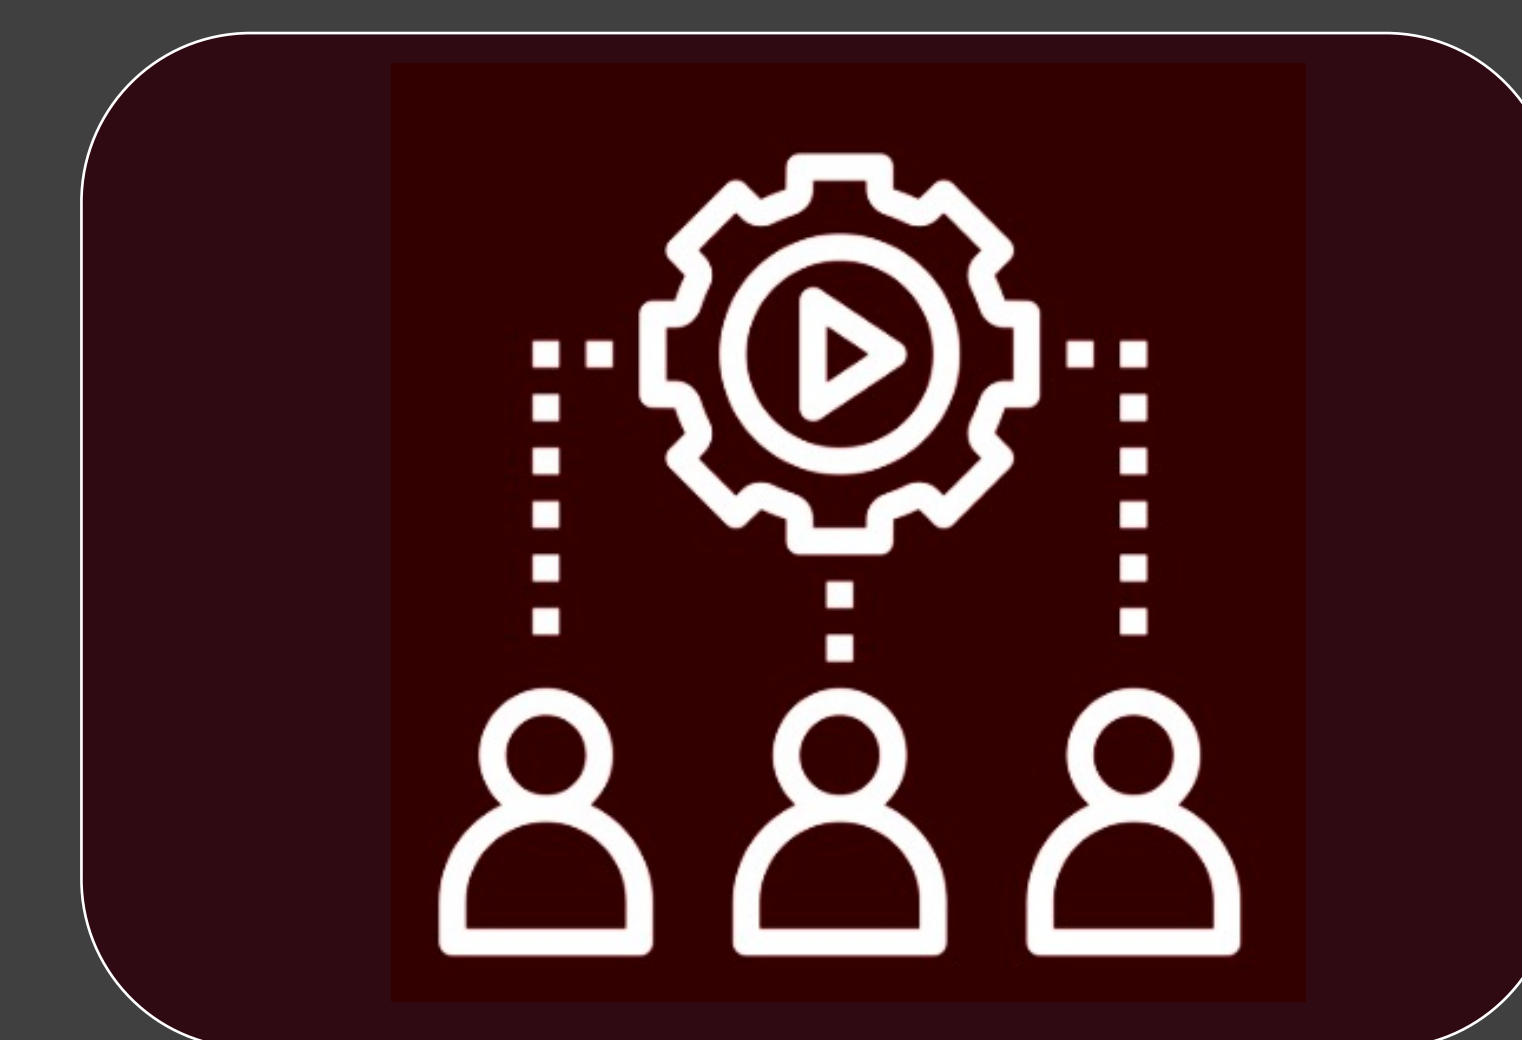

Advocating for programs with community connectors.

Investing in the planning and recruitment phase.

Staying up to date on state policy and legislation.

Understanding roles and how to support school/CBO implementation.

Statements

- The project described was supported by Grant Number 90AP2702-01-00 from the Administration for Children and Families / ACF - Family and Youth Services Bureau.*
- The views expressed in written training materials, publications, or presentations by speakers and moderators do not necessarily reflect the official policies of the Department of Health and Human Services; nor does mention of trade names, commercial practices, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.